

St. Paul tells the Church in Ephesus:

*"Jesus came to preach peace,
so that we would no longer be foreigners or strangers,
but God's people,
built on the foundation of the Apostles."*

Francis of Assisi: Apostle of the Gospel of Peace

- The ardent and illuminating energy of Francis' personality that clearly communicates Jesus' life and ministry.
 - How can I follow the Apostle of the Gospel of Peace, fostering an ardent and illuminating energy in my life, to bring about a Just Peace to every house I enter?
- The irresistible charm of Francis' unarmed and peacemaking simplicity that witnesses to Jesus' surrendering to His Father's will.
 - In a desire to let my words teach and my actions speak, how do I need to improve my character, as a means of witnessing to Just Peace through an irresistible charm of peacemaking simplicity?
- The tender and sublime accents of Francis' Canticle that celebrates the hope we find in Jesus' Resurrection.
 - Inspired by the tender and sublime accents of the Apostle of the Gospel of Peace, how do I creatively engage culture and beauty to call others to their better selves?
